

Inner Technology

“Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic.”
—Arthur C. Clarke

You are so much more than mere flesh and blood. In fact; you are an elaborate system of electromagnetic pulses and impulses which are so intricate and dynamic that it's hard to comprehend just how magnificent you truly are. The Human DNA consist of 120 billion miles of encoded data which is 100 trillion times more information than any computer science could ever come up with. In your physical form, you are a sophisticated system of circuitry and mechanisms that make up your human body, but on a much more intricate level, you are an energetic system that communicates with the world around you by way of vibrations, frequencies and tones which are designed to orchestrate your manifested reality. In essence, you are a magical masterpiece designed in the image and likeness of pure Love and Divine Intelligence. Everything you could ever want or need is already a part of your unique make-up. You are a miraculous phenomenon of “Inner Technology” which has existed inside of you since your inception. The key however, is to know and understand exactly how to go about cultivating this wondrous internal system.

Believe it or not, once upon a time, you actually had twelve DNA strands as opposed to the two you now have. At some point in your evolution, for whatever reason, these strands were tampered with decoded and dispersed throughout your body until some far-off time in the future when you could be fully recoded with the wholeness and fullness of your divine self. This decoding of your DNA is critical if you truly understand the ramifications it entails. In order to fully comprehend what has been lost here, let's look at the primary function of your DNA. Deoxyribonucleic Acid (DNA) is a nucleic acid that contains the genetic instructions used in the development and functioning of all known living organisms and it serves as a crucial storage house for genetic information. Essentially it is the blueprint to your very existence and it contains the instructions needed to build other components of cells called genes. A gene is a unit of heredity and is a region of DNA that influences a particular characteristic in an organism known as traits. Therefore; DNA contains the genetic information which allows all modern living things to function, grow and reproduce. Without the full capacity of your genetic make-up, it's safe to say that your potential has been reduced. Essentially, you are only functioning with about ten percent of your full capabilities and the other ninety percent has been decoded and dispersed throughout your body in the form of what science has termed “junk” DNA. While science has yet to figure out how to utilize these other strands, we know the Universe doesn't make “junk” and these missing parts of your genetic make-up are definitely necessary if you are to function at full capacity. In her book The Mission Remembered Jelaila Starr says; “The twelve primary DNA strands are the DNA blueprints for the original twelve species that occupy this Universe.” This being the case, you are the progeny of a much higher form of intelligence with far greater potential to that of simply being human.

Essentially, you were a multidimensional being, simultaneously existing on multiple planets, in numerous dimensions, galaxies and Universes. However, your ability to fully experience this reality, not to mention interact with your celestial lineage is greatly hindered by the fact that your DNA needs restoring. In the book Maya Cosmogogenesis written by John Major Jenkins he emphasizes this by saying:

“The ancient Mayan civilization understood the universal principles that create and sustain the world. These ‘first principles’ underlie the physical laws that modern science has partially mastered and used to create technological miracles, but the first principles of Mayan sacred science embraced a much larger Universe in which human beings were seen to be ‘multidimensional’ and ‘capable of traveling beyond time and space,’ beyond the confines that limit modern science with its ‘laws’ that are valid only in the physical three-dimensional plane. But human beings, with our capacity for supra-sensory spiritual vision, are more than three-dimensional. And that somewhere among the ruins, perhaps, lies an Inner technology of personal transformation that our civilization lost long ago.”

He postulates how we can only hope to create a cultural context in which human beings might once again cultivate this kind of Inner Technology.

In my first book Ultimate Truth: Book I, I write about the Nibiruans and how it is believed they took part in our evolution as well as our proverbial “downfall” through genetic manipulation and DNA restructuring. Apparently, homo-sapiens are an upgraded version from a lower primate by including a very advanced technology in the form of one additional endocrine gland and ten additional DNA strands. This inclusion gave us seven endocrine glands and twelve DNA strands which enabled us to become much more technologically advanced with the ability to communicate with our parentage in all twelve dimensions. Being that we were still a very new race of beings with very little discernment, we were also very naïve spiritually. As a result of what was beginning to happen with these new found abilities and our misuse of them, it is believed that the Nibiruans disconnected ten of our twelve DNA strands and scattered them throughout our bodies thus deactivating the ability to be multidimensional beings. In time, we simply forgot about them and it’s hard to miss what we never knew we had. The Nibiruans would wait for us to develop spiritually in order to fully appreciate and understand our inner technological development at which time we could become advanced enough to fully handle the power of our twelve DNA strands. When this occurs, the Inner Technology would reactivate thus reassembling the additional ten strands enabling us to remember a time when we once had these capabilities and begin to embrace our celestial heritage.

There are no sufficient words to fully explain just how valuable you really are. The diminutive and intricate details of your inner-workings are so awe inspiring that at times it’s hard to even fathom just how dynamic you actually are. The human body has often been compared to the most advanced computer with memory so vast it can’t even be measured. In nano-technology there is a computer the size of a drop of water that operates from a single molecule of DNA which does not require any external power source. With over 50 to 75 trillion cells in your body, just imagine the overwhelming capacity you possess. You are a highly sophisticated bio-computer fully loaded and upgraded with the most advanced software. This bio-system, much like the world-wide-web is hardwired to the universal source of all possibilities and through your Inner Technology, you are able to exist in a quantum field of awareness where everything is connected on an energetic level. This informational matrix holds all thoughts, emotions and states of being, either historic or potential, in holographic energetic form, at the subatomic level of reality. This “Matrix” so to speak, enables you to create and manifest simply by concentrating your focus and intention on a desired outcome. Quantum scientists tell us that we, as observers, create reality from this seething field of unlimited energetic potential through our perception and focused intention. However, we have to work on our Inner Technology in order to establish a conscious communication with the mainframe.

The memory you possess in your DNA comes from a long lineage of Earthly as well as Celestial parentage not to mention the fact that Earth’s entire history is encoded within each of your cells. Your human DNA is a biological internet far superior to that of anything man could ever imagine. Science has even determined that just as you use the internet, your DNA can not only feed suitable data into the network, but it can also retrieve data from the network, and establish contact with other participants within that very same network. Researchers believe once you are able to regain group consciousness through your Inner Technology, you could reclaim your god-like power to create, alter and shape things to suit your desired reality. Undoubtedly, you are slowly and collectively moving toward such a reality. Once you are able to synchronize your thinking and begin to focus your thoughts in a collective effort, it is just a matter of time before you can influence the world in which you live. As a group conscious, we would not experience environmental issues or shortages of any kind but rather by utilizing our mental capabilities as a unified consciousness, we would have control of the resources of our planet as a normal outcome.

It is through this Inner Technology that you are empowered to restore your body and your life by invoking conscious intention into the field of all possibilities. What exactly is this field of all possibilities and how does it pertain to you? I'll tell you how. Because you are a galactic being with far more capabilities than you've been led to believe and you've been functioning here in this physical incarnation on limited capabilities because your access to the infinite field has been hindered. This hindrance has come in the form of emotional and genetic blockages that have yet to be cleared and healed. Upon this clearing, an activation or should I say a re-activation will take place thus allowing you to function as the multidimensional being you were intended to be.

Dr. Peter C. Rogers

May 2012

Inner Child Magazine

The Ultimate Truth